

1983-84 (General Election) and 1984-85 (State)

(1984)

1983-84 (General Election) and 1984-85 (State) -
The first part of the report deals with the general election of 1983-84. It is a very important election because it is the first time since 1977 that the Congress party has won a majority in the Lok Sabha. This is a significant change in the political scene of India. The Congress party has won 303 seats out of 542. This is a clear victory. The report also mentions that the Congress party has won a majority in 14 out of 22 state assemblies. This is also a significant achievement. The report further states that the Congress party has won a majority in 10 out of 16 state legislatures. This is also a significant achievement. The report concludes that the Congress party has won a clear victory in the 1983-84 general election. This is a significant change in the political scene of India. The report also mentions that the Congress party has won a majority in 14 out of 22 state assemblies. This is also a significant achievement. The report further states that the Congress party has won a majority in 10 out of 16 state legislatures. This is also a significant achievement. The report concludes that the Congress party has won a clear victory in the 1983-84 general election. This is a significant change in the political scene of India.

1984-85 (State) -
The second part of the report deals with the state elections of 1984-85. It is a very important election because it is the first time since 1977 that the Congress party has won a majority in the Lok Sabha. This is a significant change in the political scene of India. The Congress party has won 303 seats out of 542. This is a clear victory. The report also mentions that the Congress party has won a majority in 14 out of 22 state assemblies. This is also a significant achievement. The report further states that the Congress party has won a majority in 10 out of 16 state legislatures. This is also a significant achievement. The report concludes that the Congress party has won a clear victory in the 1983-84 general election. This is a significant change in the political scene of India.

1984-85 (State) -
The second part of the report deals with the state elections of 1984-85. It is a very important election because it is the first time since 1977 that the Congress party has won a majority in the Lok Sabha. This is a significant change in the political scene of India. The Congress party has won 303 seats out of 542. This is a clear victory. The report also mentions that the Congress party has won a majority in 14 out of 22 state assemblies. This is also a significant achievement. The report further states that the Congress party has won a majority in 10 out of 16 state legislatures. This is also a significant achievement. The report concludes that the Congress party has won a clear victory in the 1983-84 general election. This is a significant change in the political scene of India.

1984-85 (State) -
The second part of the report deals with the state elections of 1984-85. It is a very important election because it is the first time since 1977 that the Congress party has won a majority in the Lok Sabha. This is a significant change in the political scene of India. The Congress party has won 303 seats out of 542. This is a clear victory. The report also mentions that the Congress party has won a majority in 14 out of 22 state assemblies. This is also a significant achievement. The report further states that the Congress party has won a majority in 10 out of 16 state legislatures. This is also a significant achievement. The report concludes that the Congress party has won a clear victory in the 1983-84 general election. This is a significant change in the political scene of India.

1984-85 (State) -
The second part of the report deals with the state elections of 1984-85. It is a very important election because it is the first time since 1977 that the Congress party has won a majority in the Lok Sabha. This is a significant change in the political scene of India. The Congress party has won 303 seats out of 542. This is a clear victory. The report also mentions that the Congress party has won a majority in 14 out of 22 state assemblies. This is also a significant achievement. The report further states that the Congress party has won a majority in 10 out of 16 state legislatures. This is also a significant achievement. The report concludes that the Congress party has won a clear victory in the 1983-84 general election. This is a significant change in the political scene of India.