Introduction

History of Dantan needs to be rewritten. Many scholars like Haraprasad Sastri, Nagendranath Basu, A. K. Banerjee, B. N. Mukherjee made a number of guesses on Dantan. Long ago Nihar Ranjan Ray clearly identified Dantan with the ancient and medieval province Dandabhukti, the capital of which must have been in a few places of Dantan. For, a number of provincial rulers—sometimes in the status of independent monarch, ruled here and built their settlements. The archaeological remains of those sites are still visible here and there. The entire region of Dantan has yielded large number of ancient artefacts which are still to be studied academically. In fact, Dantan remained a neglected place for a long period—culturally and economically. It is high time now that we reconsider the historical and academic importance of Dantan in a new era of information technology.

Black and Red Ware sites

The present explorer has found two big Black and Red Ware sites at Dantan, which are about 3000 years old. The findings of BRW pottery, buffers ware and pre-wheel pottery substantiates the fact that the human groups from the Chota Nagpur plateau and sub-plateau regions from the Neolithic Period started settling down the river banks and established the culture of Chalcolithic Early Farming, which later on developed as settled culture. The sites contain evidences of continuous settlement from the Post-Harappan through the Vedic to the medieval period. The authenticity of the artefacts were verified by Dr Rajat Sanyal, an archaeologist from the University of Calcutta.

Discovery of Moghalmari Buddhist Monastery

It was Prof. Asok Dutta who—through his intensive research for over a decade and scientific excavation—unearthed a Buddhist Monastery at Moghalmari. The monastery occupies a small area of an entire Buddhist settlement scattered at the Moghalmari village. Many structures are either unexplored or buried beneath the earth. Unearthing them will also open up a new chapter in the history of Bengal.

But Moghalmari is not the only archaeological site here. In fact, the entire region from Raibania (Orissa) through Dantan to Keshiary (even it can be extended to Daintikuri where still stands a pre-Muslim brick-temple) has a glorious history and is rich in archaeological artefacts.

Below are brief descriptions of the possible sites which need to be explored, conserved and developed for tourism.

Satdeulia

Satdeulia, a small village is situated on slightly elevated land at Ektarpur village of Dantan. The place derives its name probably from seven temples or 'Deul'. From the archaeological remains it is clear that the seven temples really existed. The temples are all gone and only seven small ditches exist around a big pond. However, we still could see foundations and debris of massive walls around the village in rectangular shape. It is found in Harrison's report that 2600000 bricks from this place were taken away from this place to make Rajghat Road. He wrote:

On the occasion of excavating earth to get out bricks and stone for the use of Rajghat Road under construction several magnificent remains of the old buildings have been discovered at Satdeula and Moghalmari, and bricks, and stones, it is estimated have been dug out, numbering about 26 lakhs and some crores yet lie buried under the ground. From these it appears that the above place were once the residence of the ancient Rajas and exceedingly populous".

Some big stone statues have been recovered. One of them is a big life-size statue of some unidentified deity. May be this huge statue was left unfinished or it was deliberately defaced and damaged by some humans. The same is the case with a huge Bhairaba statue, the remains of which are found in parts. Definitely some destruction activity was there and one may relate this to the misdeeds of Kalapaharh. The pond still contains many statues and waits to be unearthed.

Dantan High School Ground

The school ground is situated in a vast elevated land. The present explorer has found huge amount of pottery sherds and stone tools around the ground covering a vast area. The artefacts range from crude Neolithic tools to the early medieval pottery. Like the BRW sites at Urishal and Satbahina Dhipi, it also seems to be a Chalcolithic mound. But so far no BRW evidence has been recovered. This place should be excavated by experts. Besides, this place has a beautiful location and surrounding. It can be developed into a full-fledged modern park and with this active night time of Dantan can also be extended.

Sharashanka

Sharashanka is the largest human-made lake of West Bengal covering an area of nearly 148 acres. Legend has it that it was dug up by King Shashanka and re-excavated by the Odissan King Mukundadeb. But the site has not been fully examined by archaeologists. As per Sri Lalit Mohan Samanta's (a local historian of 1950s) documentation some ancient artefacts were found from this area. The present explorer found pottery sherds dating back to the 8th century. It establishes that the lake was created during the reign of Shashanka as a hydrological project for fishery and irrigation. Satellite images prove that there might have been a waterway stemming from the eastern bank of Subarnarekha River in the village Bora and passing through the successive villages like Tararui, Moghalmari, Bejda, Kakrajeet, Salikotha before it entered Sarasanka and then finally merges into the sea through the Nimpur waterway. Till the present day the rainy water flows likewise crossing the cultivating lands. But drastically this route has been changed as a result of a massive earthquake of April 1762 as seen in the case of Ganges which also changed its route near Nabadweep.

Sharashanka is significant as a holy place for the Hindus, Muslims and the tribal people. Along with its historical accounts and geographical facts this dighi has its own cultural records too. This enormous lake is sacred to its nearby inhabitants. A village fair, known as 'Pous-Sankranti Mela' is held annually on the auspicious occasion of 'Pous-Sankranti'. On that very day deceased village folk are being cremated on the banks of this lake. A number of Hindu Temples can be seen around the banks of this dighi. Interestingly, a Majhar (shrine) of Peer Laskarganj Deewan is situated in the south-east bank of the lake. Peer sahab's ardent followers believe that he breathed his last on the day before the Pous Sankranti and on that particular day he had his solemn burial. There are legends that this 'Pous-Sankranti' mela has been annually held in commemoration of his glowing memory. On the very day of Pous Sankranti Mela this shrine is visited and the Peer is paid a glowing tribute by all of his followers irrespective of Hindus and Muslims.

Manoharpur Rajbari

Within 1 K.M. of the famous monastery an old place named as 'Manoharpur Rajbari' is situated. It is a matter of concern that the old structure will be dilapidated very soon if it is not renovated and preserved. It was established in 19th Century. The vast tanks, Natya Mandir and the palace itself draw the attention of the people. While visiting the site people travel in their mind's eye to the remote past. The place Rajbari is famous for its heritage architecture and it played a big role in the struggle for freedom during the British rule.

Kakrajit

Kakrajit may be called an ancient archaeological site following the old statues recovered from a big pond, Kundu Pukur, nearby. This place, not more than 5 km from the Moghalmari site, must have been culturally connected with the Moghalmari site. Prof. Asok Datta found trace of a Dharmachakra there. Remarkable is the fact that some statues of the Sun God Surya have been recovered from the pond. If we notice the emergence of the Surya cult in the 10-11 century in Orissa, we can understand that these statues were related to that cult and the chronology suggests that the cult came into existence when the Moghalmari Buddhist Monastery was in decline.

Uttarraibarh

The area around Urraraibarh has been suggested to have been the settlement of Shaiva matha. The discovery of a massive statue of a Shaivacharya (locally known as Jatadharibaba) attests to the assumption. More facts may come up if proper exploration work is taken up. The place also yielded some Jaina statues like that of Adinatha belonging to the 6th century AD,

Dantan Tower Station

This is a precious piece of heritage. Dantan Tower Station was built for trigonometric calculation before 1852 as part of the Great Trigonometric Survey. Now it stands in utter neglect on the southern part of the Vidhadhar tank. If conserved, it can be used for educational purposes for the school students and also for the researchers.

Kurumbera (Gaganeshwar)

“Built in the year 1438-1469 (written in Oriya inscription) during Kapileswar Deb’s period, it also has structures built during the Aurangzeb’s period by Mohammed Tahir (stone inscription). Despite being a protected monument, under the ASI, there is no data available about this fort. Folk legends believe that the fort was built in a single night, when Ram, Sita visited the place, during their Vanvas....The fort contains a three domed structure over a platform, along with a sacrificial altar. Though the most parts of this fort and its structures are in ruins, the ASI, has taken considerable effort to protect the structures from collapsing by using cement and lime mortar for holding the external pillars. The pillars hold a roofing which is shaped as a flower. The usage of circular pillar to the rear of the left-dome seems interesting. The presence of an inscription stating about its usage is present right behind of the domed structure. Though the script resembles Oriya, locals state that it is not decipherable.” from Wikipedia.

Some Temples of Dantan

There are few temples which deserve to be preserved because of their architectural and cultural value. The most important of them Shyamaleshwar Temple (perhaps dating back to the 16th century) is a rare Pirha-Deul of Bengal. Other temples like Jagannath Temple and Chandaneshwar Temple—built in the 19th century in the Odissan Deul structure need equal attention.

Some places around Dantan in Odisha

Raibania

“Raibania fort is a group of ancient forts in Baleswar district, Orissa India. Though three forts have been recorded in the Ain-i-Akbari there are totally four forts found here, 2 of the larger ones are closer to the village Raibania and the other two are closer to the village Phulta (Phulahatta). According to The Balasore Gazetteer the forts were devastated after the Kalapahada invaded Utkala. Post invasion remnants of the forts except Raibania have been utilized for construction by the local Zamindars and villagers of the locality.

Raibania fort complex is located in Laxmannath which is 9 miles (14 km) from Jaleswar and 2 miles (3.2 km) from the river Subarnarekha." [Wikipedia]

The fort is built of laterite stone and in the shape of an irregular pentagon with walls of various dimensions ranging between 2,640ft and 4,950ft. Sir John Beams, the collector of Balasore, who conducted a study in 1872, presumed that the fort was built by Mukunda Dev (1559-68) to protect the north end to prevent constant aggression by the Afghan Sultans ruling in Bengal. However, disputing Beams's ideas several historians have proposed that the fort was built during the reign of Langula Narasingh Dev (1238-1264).

Lakshmannath Rajbari

Lakshmannath Rajbari can also be attached to the tourist schedule of Dantan. The palace is unique in having British architecture mixed with the Muslim style.

Makria

Makria is a village situated on the other side of the river Subarnarekha. Its importance lies in its unique production of Tasser silk products. The village must have come into existence many centuries ago when the place around Dantan, including Raibonia Fort and Dantan Port, was in a very prosperous condition.

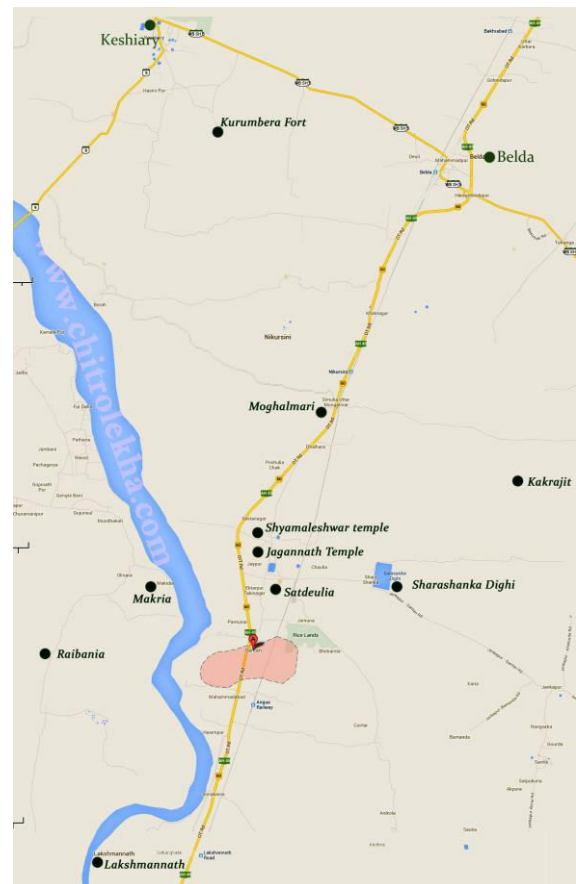

Steps to be taken for Developing Tourism

1. First of all, an advanced Tourist Lodge and Information Centre and a Museum and a Research Centre need to be built at Moghalmari. The entire building needs to be designed following the structure a Buddhist Stupa (for instance, the Stupa at Dhouli). The building needs to be built near the NH 60 and it will attract the attention of the people. A multi-cuisine restaurant needs to be there for providing food to the tourists.
2. Local youths may be trained for acting as paid guides.
3. The Club right on top of the Moghalmari mound needs to be taken down and shifted to some other place.
4. A well-calculated tourist route needs to be chalked out.
5. The roads leading to the sites need to be newly created or repaired for smooth journey of the tourists.
6. Advanced Nature Camps may be built at Borah or on the northern side of Mahabila near the river Subarnarekha and this would allow both eco-tourism and archaeological tourism.

Dandabhukti Museum and Research Centre

The Museum to be made should be named Dandabhukti Museum following the name of the ancient province of Bengal. This will serve three purposes:

- (i) Vast number of artefacts--statues and seals can be accommodated in one place for viewers and researchers and this will increase the size and variety of the museum;

- (ii) The name Dandabhukti prefixed to the museum will add more value to an ancient entity and indirectly add more substance to the tourism possibilities of the place;
- (iii) Dandabhukti Museum can serve as a model for other historical and archaeological sites of Bengal.

This picture is illustrative. The design of the Tourist Lodge/ Research Centre can be made in the model of the original design of the Monastery. The present explorer has got the design and can be shared.

Plan for a Historical and Archaeological Research Centre

Thrust Areas for Research:

1. The location of Dandabhukti and its capital has been a matter of long-time controversy. Whereas H.P. Shastri opined for its location in Bihar, Nihar Ranjan Ray located it right at present-day Dantan without any hesitation. Modern research works need to be initiated for determining conclusively whether Dantan was Dandabhukti once upon a time, though archaeological evidences strongly suggest its location at Dantan.
2. Kamboja Pala kings ruled from a capital named Priyangu. A copperplate inscription has been found in Baleshwar, Orissa; and from this some think that the capital might have been there. But the exact location of the place has not been found yet. Since they ruled in or around Dandabhukti, there is a strong possibility that they had their establishment at Dantan, probably at Angua (which got its name from long degeneration of the name 'Priyangu')
3. The vast area of Satdeulia of Dantan needs to be researched upon. The name itself suggests that once seven temples existed there. One can still find extensive brick walls running around the village in rectangular shape and many stone statues have been found from a big pond there.
4. Plans may be taken to re-excavate the pond first for cleaning it and for searching archaeological artefacts.
5. The village Kakrajit seems to be rich in archaeological artefacts. One can find a number of big statues found from the Kundu Pukur nearby. The collection includes a number of elaborate statues of Surya, and from this it may be assumed that once there was a Surya temple there. We know the cult of Surya worship started in Orissa, and so the statues and the lost temple might have been from the 11 to 12 century.

6. The location of Dantan port can be an important task involving multidisciplinary project.
7. The Kurumbera Fort at Gaganeshwar, Kukai, Keshairy has a simple history so far. But the architectural pattern suggests that some big temple might have been there (still some foundations are there) and the entire structure was either a Buddhist or Hindu temple complex.
8. The ground at Kierchand needs proper study.
9. The forts and temples at Nayagram need can be explored academically.
10. The Fort of Raibania needs to be studied as an important defence area of the region.

For all these, holistic multidisciplinary approaches need to be followed, and for this academic institutions, organizations, heritage trusts, government agencies and independent scholars need to come under umbrella projects. All these will contribute to the overall development of the area and enrich our knowledge of the heritage lying in neglect.

Finally, such an advanced multi-purpose research centre can be created at or in collaboration Bhatler College, Dantan.

What is the Present State of Affairs?

Tourism in West Bengal has always remained a neglected affair. Again, their conception of Kolkata-is-all did not allow them to look much beyond the state capital. Bengalis cling to certain colonial structures like the Victoria Memorial Hall and the Howrah Bridge as symbols of high culture. Ideologically the Left rulers ignored true Bengali heritage lying about everywhere in West Bengal and even suppressed researches and discussion of heritage sites, particularly the religious structure—be it a temple or a mosque. Only the act of producing silly self-destructive literature was promoted. As a result of their extreme myopia, tourism in Paschim Medinipur did not develop systematically and the heritage sites now demand urgent attention.

The fact is that developing tourism in the district will take time—much more time than one or two years.

Steps to be taken

In order to develop tourism there needs to be chalked out a long-term sustainable plan aiming at the future. The following steps may be taken:

- The district needs to be divided in certain area-wise circles keeping in view practical considerations of the demands and convenience of the tourists from inside and outside the district.

- After marking out the circles basic infrastructure for transport, food and lodging needs to be built or upgraded.
- At the same time, local heritage sites and structures need to be conserved locally with expert help from ASI or other agency.
- For preservation local groups, comprising members of local administration, elected people's representative and interest people, need to be created. The groups need to act following the guidelines fixed at the district or state level.
- After face-lifting of the sites, concerted efforts at creating awareness about the importance of heritage need to be taken up at the district level.
- At the same time, publicity campaigns can be taken up to attract tourists right from the Panchayet level to the State level.
- Some new ideas and plans need to be taken up in consultation with tourism experts from West Bengal and other states. For instance, the practice of 'Home-stay' with the slogan "Eso amar ghare" can be adopted in the case of eco-tourism.

Identifying the Tourism Circles and Circuits

It is clear from the table 1 that Paschim Medinipur offers mixed bag of attractions and interests to visitors. Depending on this some tourism circles and circuits can be identified for further action:

Sl.	Circles	Tourist Attractions
1	Daspur	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ❖ Gopinath Ekratna temple of the Singhas ❖ Radhagobinda Temple ❖ Brajaraj Kishore temple ❖ Nabaratna Rasmancha, Baliharpur ❖ Laxmi Janardan of the Pal Family

Creating Awareness and Publicity

Sri Tarapada Santra did stupendous work of surveying the heritage sites of the district and the documentation is available. So there is not much need for field-work for identifying the heritage sites. In our time it is necessary for the people of the district to be aware of our heritage and history and learn to respect and conserve them. At the same time people from outside the district need to be attracted to the richness and beauty of the state. For this strategies for effective publicity need to taken up.

Few suggested steps for generating awareness:

- Booklets be prepared on the tourist sites of Paschim Medinipur and be distributed among teachers of primary, secondary and HS schools and colleges, administrative officers and staff right from Panchayet levels, staff of all govt. and non-govt offices, clubs and other organizations for a charge.
- Special awareness campaigns be taken up at different administrative and educational levels.
- People directly involved in tourism like drivers, guides, hotel owners, cooks be trained and sensitized on the matters relating to the development of tourism.

Few suggested steps for publicity:

- Important roadways be marked and hoardings be put up with pictures and instructions to reach a nearby tourist place, thereby both informing about and inviting passerby to the local spot.
- A website dedicated only to tourism in Paschim Medinipur be created for providing information and displaying photographs of the places.
- Booklets on tourist spots of the entire district be made available for purchase to tourists from all the tourist spots.

গড় মাঙ্গারগ : বাঙালীর ঔপন্যাসিক শ্রী বঙ্কিমচন্দ্র চট্টোপাধ্যায় দুর্গেশনন্দিনী উপন্যাসে গড় মাঙ্গারগের উল্লেখ করেছিলেন। বাংলার সুলতান হুসেন শাহের (১৪৯৩-১৫১৯খ্রিষ্টাব্দ) সেনাপতি ইসমাইল গাজির উদ্যোগে নির্মিত গড় মাঙ্গারগে রাজ্য প্রভুত্ব ও সংগ্রহালয় অধিকার খননকার্যের প্রেক্ষাপটে ১০-ম থেকে ১৭দশ শতাব্দীর প্রত্ননামনা অবিস্কার করতে সমর্থ হন। উপরোক্ত খননদ্রোণ প্রথমতঃ লক্ষ্মী শূড়ের রাজধানীকে সনাক্ত করার সাথে অসার মন্দিরের অবস্থানকে চিহ্নিত করার প্রয়োজনে সাধিত হয়েছিল।

দাক্ষ ভাস্কর্য : বর্তমান জেলার গোলগ্রাম থেকে সংগৃহীত আলোচ্য দাক্ষ ভাস্কর্যটি গরুড় বাহন বিহুমূর্তি বলে দাবী করা হলেও কিছু কিছু শক্তি ত পাল-সেনযুগের এই শিল্প নমুনাটিকে পূর্বোক্ত বলে সনাক্ত করণের পক্ষে বিরুদ্ধত পোষণ করেন।

ঔপনিবেশিক পর্বের রৌপ্য মুদ্রা : মুর্শিদাবাদ জেলার শক্তিপুর পুলিশ থানার উদ্যোগে সংগৃহীত দশটি রৌপ্যমুদ্রা ঔপনিবেশিক পর্বের সময়সীমায় (১৮৭৭-১৯০৬ খ্রিষ্টাব্দ) আবহা ধাকতে দেখা গেছে।

পার্বতী পঞ্চাঙ্গিতপা : আলোচ্য ভাস্কর্য নমুনাটি বৃহৎদাকার দেবী বিগ্রহের ভগ্ন অংশ মাত্র। কালিদাস বিরচিত কুমারসম্ভব কাব্যে বর্ণিত দেবাসিন্ধব মহেশ্বরের অর্দ্ধাঙ্গিনি রূপে পরিচিতি পাওয়ার জন্য হিমালয় দুহিতা উমার উদ্যোগ যখন ব্যর্থতায় পর্যবসিত হয় তখন তিনি দন্ডায়মান অবস্থায় চারদিকের অঙ্গির বেষ্টিতে মত্তকোপরি তীর সূর্যকিরণ ধারণ পূর্বক তপস্যায় রত হন।

পূর্বভারতের পটচিত্র শিল্প এক সুপ্রাচীন ঐতিহ্যের পরিচয় বহন করে। পটচিত্রের শিল্পীদের পটুয়া বা চিত্রকর নামে অভিহিত করা হত। সূচনাপর্বে বহু খণ্ডে চিত্রাঙ্কনের উদ্যোগ সূচিত হলেও পরবর্তীকালে মিলের কাগজ চিত্রাঙ্কনের জন্য ব্যবহৃত হতে দেখা যায়। বর্তমান প্রদর্শনীতে যে পটচিত্রগুলি প্রদর্শিত হয়েছে তা অতি সম্প্রতি সংরক্ষণের আওতায় আনা হয়েছে।

REPORT
“ANCHOL PROJECT”

(Adoption of School for Creative Development among students)

An initiative by the Teachers' Council &
NSS Units,
Bhatler College, Dantan

Introduction

There has been a long demand from the teachers of Bhatler College, Dantan along with the NSS volunteers to extend their outreach programmes outside of the college premises and to adopt a few nearby Shishu Shiksha Kendra (SSK). This had taken place on date 20.09.2022 under the initiative titled “Anchor Project” by the Teachers’ Council of Bhatler College, Dantan along with the NSS units of the institution. This project primarily aims at the adoption of schools for nurturing and developing the creative talents of the students. A total number of four schools have been adopted where the teachers have not only initiated fun libraries for the children but also provided many necessary teaching-learning materials like globes, maps, letters and so on for igniting their creative potential. These items would certainly provide them easy access to learning by playing and fun reading. The children were certainly very much motivated and excited to see these exchanges of experience. The teachers, caretakers and other stakeholders too were motivated to work together on a collaborative basis in near future.

Activities undertaken

As per the directions of the concerned Authority, the Teachers’ Council and NSS Units, Bhatler College, Dantan undertook a “School Adoption Programme”, in which it was decided to adopt four schools within the locality of Dantan-I Constituency. The Faculties of the Bhatler College, Dantan visited the nearby schools of the Bhatler College. After analysing the student-teacher ratio, literacy rate, Financial conditions of the people, backward classes (SC & ST students), the college has adopted four schools namely

1. Sarasanka Shishu Shiksha Kendra (SSK)

2. Purbo Chaulia Shishu Shiksha Kendra (SSK)

3. Patbandha Shishu Shiksha Kendra (SSK)

4. Kazi Mahalla Shishu Shiksha Kendra (SSK)

The teachers of the school were delighted with the proposal and they were quite happy with the School Adoption Programme of the College. The Teachers' Council and NSS Units, Bhatler College, Dantan finally materialize the "Anchor project" on 22th September, 2022. Mr. Bikram Chandra Pradhan, honourable president of college, and Dr. P.K. Mishra, Principal inaugurated the opening ceremony of the "Anchor project" in adopted schools. The students details of the schools are as follows:

Sl. no	School name	Boys	Girls	Total Students
1	Sarasanka SSK	76	58	134
2	Purbo Chaulia SSK	29	29	58
3	Pathbandha SSK	21	9	30
4	Kazi Mahalla SSK	37	38	75

Most of the children were aged between 4 to 9 years (Class-1 to 4). In the opening day of the project all students are present in these schools. The college donated one open kids almirah with about 45 books and few teaching and learning materials to each adopted schools. The teaching and learning materials contain reference books, story books, drawing books, different types of Indian and West Bengal maps, chart, globe, playing alphabets and other stationary items.

Since the start of the project our NSS volunteers and students are regularly (two days a week) taking classes to these schools. Further they organize different types of cultural activities like singing, dancing, yoga etc. to motivate the students.

The search and the takeaways

- More than 100 observations made during the last few years, and this will continue.
- Detection of GWs established Einstein's general theory of relativity on a firm footing.
- Gravitational waves are disturbances propagating in the gravitational field of extremely strong sources, caused by some catastrophic event associated with cosmic bodies, like binary black hole coalescence, or neutron star mergers.
- Events happen hundreds of millions of light years away.
- Signal strength are extremely weak.
- Requires extraordinary detection and analysis technology to observe.
- So, what is the nature of these disturbances?
- What are the observational aspects?
